Part Time Politics Lecturer for International Foundation Programme (0.8fte Fixed Term)

Context

INTO's mission:

Through innovative partnerships with leading universities we expand opportunities for higher education, ensuring success and transforming the lives of our students and staff.

Across the world, there is increasing demand for top quality higher education, with more and more students demanding access to provision beyond their home country. INTO partners with universities in three continents to address this global demand and help transform their international capacity and performance. Since 2006, we have successfully launched 21 partnerships with 19 universities in Europe, North America and Asia. We have enrolled over 50,000 students from 166 countries and now have about 1600 employees, based round the world.

Requirements

INTO Manchester are looking for a part-time Politics Lecturer/Teacher to join the teaching team for the International Foundation Programme in January 2019.

We require well-qualified, enthusiastic and experienced teachers to teach Politics to equivalent of A-level to international students. This will involve establishing a sound foundation in British Politics. The successful applicants will work on our NCUK International Foundation Programme, teaching the student intake beginning in January 2019 until the end of August 2019.

We require a teacher with a strong track record of academic success and achievement to teach Politics at the INTO Centre on Whitworth Street in the centre of Manchester. The position would also suit those with expertise in the social sciences. The successful applicant will have the ability to teach students from a variety of countries and cultural backgrounds, and with different language levels. This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic teacher looking to teach in international education.
